Healing Drums

Tambours de guérison

The Quebec Federation of Women's Shelters has just released a documentary film on the Native woman's experience of conjugal violence. This video is intended for Native and Non Native organizations working in the field of violence prevention and support counseling.

Documentary Summary

Native women are three times more likely to be victims of conjugal violence.
Why?

This moving documentary gives voice to Native women who speak about a traditionally taboo subject in their communities. Far from being victims, these women have developed inspiring means and resources to break the cycle of violence. Their stories take us on a healing path intimately tied to their reclaimed native identity.
